

EKERN RELATES HIS OPINIONS

Returns From East And Recites Stories Of Presidential Candidates' Chances.

SEES LA FOLLETTE'S OPPORTUNITY

Says Hughes Will Carry New York, Cannon Is Well Liked In Pennsylvania, Knox, The Keystone's
Favorite Son, And Taft Leaders Not Certain.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Jan. 21.—"Few people in the middle west have any conception of the intensity of the presidential campaign in the east," said Herman L. Ekern, speaker of the Wisconsin assembly and secretary of the La Follette presidential committee, upon his return from a trip to Washington for conference with Senator La Follette and to New York on life insurance matters.
"New York is the scene of a great battle, beside which our little Wisconsin campaign in Wisconsin have not been much, and in comparison with the struggle between the forces of the Taft and Roosevelt factions of the republicans in Ohio our Wisconsin fight is really little brush." "Hughes will get New York's delegation, I think, not withstanding the efforts of the Taft people and other candidates to stave off a Hughes endorsement. Ohio's delegation will be divided and there seems little hope of a unit rule there. Senator Foraker is making the last gasp, putting up a great battle, but it is quite sure to be his last."
"Out here we hear little of Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, but in the Keystone state he is the big man of the race. Republicans of Pennsylvania have no second choice. They are for Knox. Should they break from Knox I think they are likely to go to Speaker Cannon as to any candidate."
"In Washington I heard much of congressional displeasure because it is understood that President Roosevelt is calling in members of congress in the interests of Taft, and is also using federal patronage in the interests of the big secretary of war. I heard upon reliable authority that the Taft managers have no longer hope of securing the nomination for him on the first ballot, and many people believe that means the impossibility of Taft's nomination, for none of the other candidates are concealing their efforts to head him off and his greatest strength will be displayed on the first ballot or early thereafter."
"The briskest of the campaign in the east is very favorable to the nomination of a western man, and Senator La Follette in many respects has great hope of being the beneficiary of the situation."

DOG TAX MAY BE LEVIED AGAIN

COUNCIL TO DECIDE AT A MEET-ING ON THURSDAY.

CENTER AVE. BRIDGE DEBATE

Resulted in Rejection of Peremptory Order on C. & N. W. Ry. Co.—New Tree-Trimming Ordinance—
Other Business.

As the outcome of a conference between members of the common council and City Marshal Appleby last evening, City Attorney H. L. Maxwell went to Madison this morning to examine and make a copy of that city's ordinance pertaining to the regulation of dogs. It is understood that a license fee is imposed; that a census taker makes a systematic tour of the city, securing at each home full statistics of the number of canines owned and their description and reporting his findings each evening to the city clerk; that the licensed official must notice to each of the dog-owners listed to appear within twenty-four hours and pay for privilege of keeping his registered pet; and that, in event of his failure to comply, the police are given authority to kill the dog and the owner is arrested and brought into court to answer for his violation of the law. When the City Fathers adjourned it was to meet again Thursday evening of this week to take up the question of a proposed dog-license ordinance for Janesville.
That dogs are property, the same as horses, and cannot be indiscriminately shot down unless symptoms of rabies are pronounced, is recognized by the police. The passing of a measure, such as the one proposed, it is believed, would result in the elimination of the "tramps" and provide a means for making the avowed owners responsible for any damage done by their pets.

Center Ave. Wagon-Bridge.

There was lively debate on the merits and propriety of an order introduced by Ald. W. C. Rehfeld directing the C. & N. W. Ry. Co. to replace within six months the wagon-bridge over their tracks where they cross Center avenue, between Second and Sutherland streets, with steel structure with concrete or stone abutments and steel or stone supports, providing a team track 21 ft. wide, the center line of said bridge and the center line of the highway on either side to measure declared that he learned in the course of a conversation with Engineer Cleveland that the bridge was being in just as the railway company had planned it; that the only concession to the city's demand for a straight highway would consist in certain changes in the approaches; and that after the structure should be put in place it would be likely to stay there unless the city council could show that it was not better and safer than the old one. The speaker thought that if the common council stood aside and allowed the company to follow its own sweet will, now, there would be no chance of a reworking by-and-by. City Engineer Korah was called upon and gave it as his opinion that inasmuch as the railroad company had submitted no plan to the city for acceptance, anything would not be bound by anything it might do. Ald. O'Brien suggested that if the city wanted to get on easy terms the privilege of laying the main sewer out on the C. & N. W.'s Western avenue right-of-way, now is the time to do it. Ald. Brown called attention to the fact that the railroad was in a position to do much or little for the city, as it might see fit, and that more would be gained in the long run in meeting the company half way than by any arbitrary action. Ald. Clark was of the opinion that the aldermen tightly agreed to the compromise plan proposed when an inspection of the premises was made a few days ago—if the bridge proved highly unsatisfactory it could be condemned. City Attorney Maxwell held that if the bridge, when completed, made the highway in that quarter crooked and inconvenient, the company could be forced to straighten it. Ald. Sheridan thought that with the order in force, the company would be apt to place the structure nearer straight, than otherwise. Ald. Dulla said that the city had never made any request of the Northwestern which it had not granted. He was sure that the work would be first class and satisfactory when done. Anyway, the bridge which was to span the tracks was already in the local railroad yards, ready to be placed in position. The order was lost, only Alderman Rothfeld and Sheridan voting in the affirmative.
Trimming of Shade Trees.

Sometime ago Ald. J. W. Clark introduced an ordinance to regulate the trimming of shade trees. It was subsequently discovered that some of the provisions conflicted with a measure already on the books and the ordinance was never given its third reading.
Last night he offered a new one, amending Sec. one of the original measure to see to provide that the owners or occupants of each lot or parcel of land within the city shall cause ornamental or shade trees in the space in front of their respective buildings to be trimmed so that the head or foliage of said trees shall not reach below a line drawn from a point not less than 10 ft. from the ground, at the trunk of each tree, to a point not less than 16 ft. from the ground at the center of the street or highway. In support of his measure, Ald. Clark said that it was designed, primarily, not to beautify the street, but to permit the lights to illuminate the numerous dark places along the thoroughfares. He called attention to a tree on Franklin street, near the intersection of Rayline, which throws its branches way across the road with in 8 feet of the surface of the thoroughfare. It was doubtless a beautiful tree but when one had proceeded up hill and looked back to find it cutting off the view, it was not so beautiful. Similar instances on the Jackson street hill and elsewhere were mentioned. The speaker said that five of the six requests recently made for lights in the Third Ward would have been unnecessary if leaf-hanging foliage had been removed. The ordinance was given its first and second reading and awaits final action at a future meeting.

City Marshal's Report.

Logging at the city lock-up was given to 370 men during the month of December, according to the report of City Marshal W. H. Appleby. The total of arrests was 78—for larceny, 3; for attempted suicide, 1; for assault and battery, 1; for disorderly conduct, 1; and for drunkenness, 72. Twenty-four were taken to court and 54 discharged. The arrests were made as follows: Appleby, 7; Brown, 8; Re-hfeld, 1; Fanning, 18; Morrissey, 20; Champion, 17; and Nelson, 8. The license committee made its customary report on bills. On the decision of the city attorney that H. P. Grossman's contract was in due form and he was entitled to pay for 601 loads of one grade of gravel at 10 cents a load and 47 loads at 15 cents, the item was allowed.

To Pay Aldermanic Salaries.

As soon as City Attorney Maxwell shall have received from official sources the findings of the supreme court, an order will probably be introduced providing for the payment of back salaries to aldermen for the period from April 30, 1906, to April 15, 1907.
Included are as follows: E. T. Field, $110;
E. H. Connell, $120; C. F. Brockhaus, $110; A. C. Hager, $90; and J. J.
Dulla, $110. These men were held over City Fathers in the council when the first measure authorizing salaries for incoming aldermen was passed.
The city clerk was directed to draw on the treasurer for the sum of $300, payable from the general fund to P. C.
Barpe, attorney for Mrs. Hannah St. hand, upon his filing a full release of all claims for damages. William Mc-Dermott's claim for $1,000 damages for injuries sustained on the night of Nov. 12, by reason of the alleged defective condition of the highways at the intersection of South Pearl and Holmes streets, was laid on the table.
City Atty. Maxwell gave the opinion that the city can remit state and county taxes and an order introduced by Ald. Sheldon directing the clerk to reimburse the Sisters of Mercy in the sum of $42.50 for taxes illegally assessed against property that should have been exempted, was passed. The clerk was directed to turn over to the county treasurer the sum of $114.27, the county's share of the license fees received from the Rockford & Interurban and Janesville Street Ry. Co. in the last tax.

Ice Co. Petition Shelves.

Atty. Charles Preece, representing the City Ice Co., asked that the petition of Henry Tall and others for the vesting of a street running from N.
Main street to the river, be permanently laid on the table and such action was taken on motion of Ald. Merritt. Permission was granted to Philip Sheridan to transfer his saloon license for the stand at 211 West street to a new firm composed of himself and Julius Brunk and the bonds of the new firm were found in due form and accepted. The bonds of Henry Hlogora, new supervisor from the Second ward, were also found in due form and accepted. Mayor Hodges' appointment of John Benson as special police officer without pay from Jan. 11 to April 10 was confirmed. Further time was granted to the highway committee for the consideration of a proposal from one Julius Stahl to sell the city a 10-ton Universal Tandem road-runner for $2,800 and take the old Buffalo Pitts in exchange as $500 cash. Reports from Street Commissioner Bennett and Assistant street commissioner Edward Smith on saline bath and required in 1907 were advised and the clerk was instructed to charge expenses in the tax-roll to abutting property owners.

Lancroose Does Not Pay Bond.

In reply to an inquiry sent by City Atty. Maxwell, City Atty. John Doherty of La Crosse who lectured here a short time ago, has written that La Crosse has never made any appropriation for the support of any bond and has no provision in its charter authorizing such an act. Furthermore, Mr.
Doherty holds that any such act on the part of the City Council, at least, would be clearly illegal. Duma's military band which is located there, is supported by private subscription, the sum of $1,500 annually being guaranteed.

Don't Try Uncertain Recipes.

It is entirely unnecessary to experiment with this, that and the other recipe. Why waste time, money and patience when you can get from your grocer, for 10 cents, a package of "COLICURE" Preparation—Lemon, Chocolate or Custard—for making pie that is so good that when you eat one piece you will want another? The way to please the men-folk is to give them good pie.

The Tramp.

What are we to do with the tramp?
He has come to hate the manual ward, his compulsory work, which is abhorrent to him, and its compulsory bath, which is almost equally so—in fact, prefers prison fare, which is much better than it used to be, and which carries with it no compulsion to labor.—Country Life.

There's the Rub.

It is a thing of no great difficulty to raise objections against another man's opinion—says, it is a very easy matter; but to produce a better in its place is a work extremely troublesome.— Plutarch.

Uncle Eben.

"Do man dat neiber makes mistake," said Uncle Eben, "doesn't exist, 'ceptin' in his own imagination.
An' he is generally 'own o' de mos' mistaken people dat is."

OVER ONE HUNDRED
AT HOUSE WARMING

At Handsome New Home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rumpf of Milton—Quarterly Meeting of Adventists.

Milton, Jan. 21.—At the handsome new home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rumpf occurred on Wednesday a "house warming," which was the event of the year in that neighborhood. A hundred or more of the friends of this estimable gentleman and his better half assembled at their request to help dedicate their country mansion and enjoy the pleasure incident to such an occasion. An elegant dinner was served by the Harmony W. C. T. U. to which all ample justice. Then came a supper for the host and hostess when W. P. Smith, in well chosen words, presented them with a handsome rocker as a token of the esteem in which they are held by neighbors, and as a memento of this very enjoyable social event. "That everyone present had a royal, jolly good time goes without saying and after a good visit disposed to their several homes wishing Mr. and Mrs. Rumpf many years of health and prosperity in their new home."

The quarterly meeting of the Southern Wisconsin and Chicago Seventh-day Baptist churches was in session here Friday, Saturday and Sunday.
Rev. Geo. W. Lewis preached Friday evening, and W. C. Dahm Saturday morning and Roy P. J. Van Horn of Albion Saturday afternoon. On Sunday a symposium on "The Ministry for Our Times" with papers or addresses by Prof. A. H. West and others,
"The Ministry and the Young People," by Rev. M. G. Stillman of Walworth, and a consecration meeting, led by Phil. Coon, made up the program.

In a letter to the writer, Rev. A. L.
McClelland has the following to say in regard to his new home at Hillsboro, N. Dak.: "This is a nice town. We have a fine court house, some business blocks and residences, as well as a fine high school. We have the same old political factions here that they do in Wisconsin. The defeated ex-governor is a member of my parish.
"Holy is a big man up here. This is a good year in this valley. They had a good crop and are getting in the neighborhood of a dollar a bushel for wheat. Have four big elevators. We are in the vicinity of the mammoth farms, too. Land sells at forty to forty-five dollars an acre. With best wishes and remembrances to my old friends."

SLEEPING BEAUTY
WAS REPRODUCED

The R. S. Club Composed of Dozen Little Misses—Enter Dramatic World.

The R. S. club, composed of a dozen little misses, in the third ward, transformed the parlor of Mrs. P. H.
Banc's home into a playhouse Saturday evening, and entertained an audience of invited guests, for an hour with a dramatized fairy tale known as "The Sleeping Beauty." The plot was laid back in the early days, when spinning wheels were more popular than pianos, and the costumes were in keeping with the times. The princess had the misfortune to prick her finger in the shuttle of an old wheel, and when she had been soothed to sleep in the old-fashioned yellow cradle, all efforts to awake her were fruitless, and so for 100 years she continued to slumber.
When she finally awoke, it was occasion for great rejoicing, in which the entire household participated by song and dance, and general merry-making.

Marian Matheson was the king in the old castle where the plot was laid, and Evelyn Kayode was the prince.
Florence Nazam was the princess, and took the part of the "Sleeping Beauty." Vera Trough was appropriately costumed as queen, while Sybil Richardson knew all about spinning, and represented the old lady.

The fairies were Peggy Smith, Faith Boswell and Helen Back, whose mission was to entertain the audience with song and dance, which they did to the pleasure of a delig-ent audience.
Marian Rogan was the page, and Frances and Dorothy Dwight were the maids of honor.
The talent displayed by this little company of amateurs indicates that the city has plenty of latent talent.

Old Coughs

Keep in close touch with your family doctor. No medicine was ever made that could take his place. Trust him at all times.

Oldcoughs, desperate coughs, rasping coughs, extremely perilous coughs, coughs that shake the whole body. It takes a strong medicine, a doctor's medicine, to master such coughs. A great many people rely on Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Tuesday, Jan. 21, 1868.—The Legislative Committee on the Bill to Amend the Constitution, and the assembly spent a few hours very pleasantly at the institute for the blind last evening with some of our citizens, and appeared greatly pleased with the exercises the pupils went through, particularly those of a musical character. This morning they resumed their investigations, and after completing their labors left on the noon train for Waukesha to visit the State Reform School. We shall attend further to their visit here tomorrow.

Turned Out Six Times.—The fire element seems to be after Latta Douglas sharp. Before he came west he was driven out of the boarding house in which he resided three times by the burning of the building. And since he came to Janesville he has escaped from burning buildings losing nearly everything in the way of wearing apparel every time—once when the block was destroyed where the Gazette office now stands, once when the Hyatt House was burned, and last time at the destruction of the American House. On the last two occasions he and his wife lost pretty nearly all of their clothing.

Held to Bail.—Mr. Steven Chase was arrested yesterday at the instance of the Sack company, charged with robbing a number of that organization—whom the law makes a special policeman on such occasions, he came into court this morning and valued an examination and was held to bail in the sum of five hundred dollars for his appearance in the Circuit Court. Considerable interest attaches to this case, inasmuch as, not only the Sack company, but the public generally, whether there is any authority to compel citizens to aid in the extinguishment of fires. We hope it will be carried as far as it is necessary to determine the question effectually.

An Unpleasant Affair.—Early in November last, Mr. William P. Goodrich, of La Prairie, sold to Messrs. Clark, Loomis & Co., of Shopley, a quantity of wheat, and on the 7th of November, 1867, he received from those gentlemen an order on themselves for $316, payable to bearer. On the 15th of November, some person presented an order alleged to be forged, of the same amount and in the same language, to a clerk of Mr. N. O. Clark of this city—Mr. Clark being a member of the Shopley firm—who obtained a check for $316 on the First National Bank of this city from Mr. Clark and delivered it to the bearer of the order in question. On the 15th of December, the genuine order was presented to the same clerk by the same person in the absence of Mr. Clark and the bearer received another check for $316 on the First National Bank. The discrepancy was not discovered for some little time, but the affair is now undergoing legal investigation. Mr. G. is respectfully requested to dispel any dark features now hanging over the case.

Magnolia, Jan. 21.—Mrs. Lottie Edwards transacted business in Janesville Saturday and visited her son Fred and family. Mr. and Mrs. Sarah Barringer visited Edgerton friends last week. They also entertained company from Edgerton. Mrs. Lottie Edwards and son Howard have moved onto her farm. Howard will work the place this year. Mr. E. H. McCoy has moved into G. H. Howard's tenant house. Mrs. George Latta is very sick with congestion of the brain. Her many friends hope for a speedy recovery. Mr. E. H. McCoy hauled hay to Evansville Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gillman spent Sunday with Mrs. Lydia Worthing and son. Mrs. Lucius Andrews of Beloit visited relatives here recently. Miss Blanche Townsend and Mrs. Lucius Andrews visited Little Bluffs Wiggins of Orderville, Wis., Sunday.

ROCK RIVER
Rock River, Jan. 20.—There will be a box social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Green, Thursday evening, Jan. 22. Boxes will be sold to the small boys at 25 cents; the rest at auction. All are invited to attend and have a good time. Proceeds to the church and Sabbath school.

GIBBS LAKE.
Gibbs Lake, January 20.—Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Haines entertained about forty young people with a dancing party at their home Saturday evening. About midnight a tempting supper was served and the two small hours of morning arrived before the guests departed, all proclaiming the host and hostess royal entertainers. Miss Ida Possenden returned to her home in Alton, Monday, after a few days' visit with her sister, Mrs. Fred Peach. A few friends and neighbors surprised Mrs. Wm. Mosher Thursday. The surprise being in the form of a quilting and all present spent a most enjoyable day.

Miss Minnie Edwards was home over Sunday. Mr. T. Meely is suffering with lumbago. Mrs. Geo. Lee of Evansville is visiting her children in this place. Mr. Ed Hamer delivered hogs at the depot, the latter part of last week. Mrs. Edwards moved on her farm Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Herb Lee attended the show in Evansville Friday evening.

Mr. Webster and Peter Gary spent Tuesday afternoon at Martha Gary's. The Misses Nellie Meely, Minnie and Cecelia Bishop were the guests of Miss Margaret Lee Saturday evening. Mr. Herb Lee spent Saturday in Janesville. Henry Meely was home over Sunday. Mrs. P. Sorenson spent part of last week in this part, calling on her old neighbors and friends. Miss Anna Sturtevant of Evansville attended the Woodman super Wednesday evening. Minnie, Corn and Walter Bishop spent Sunday in Orderville.

Miss Mary Post of Janesville is visiting her father, August Post. Several men from this part expected to go back to Dakota with Mr. Webster to look at land. The card party at Mr. T. Meely's Tuesday evening was enjoyed by those present. A jolly crowd spent Thursday evening at Geo. Bishop's. The evening was spent in playing games and all report a good time. All the scholars were glad to see Lolla Samson back to school after such a long absence. Mr. Robert Acheson spent Wednesday in Chicago. Blanche Townsend spent Sunday in Orderville. Mr. Frank Hahn of Edgerton was the guest of Lou Baranier last week. Mr. David Acheson of South Dakota is visiting relatives here. Miss Helen Poppel is sewing for Mrs. Bennett. Mr. Al. Dampney and sister were the guests of Nellie Meely over Sunday.

HANOVER
Hanover, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Wm. Ehringer, Mrs. E. G. Brown, Mrs. H. C. Dettmer and the Misses Tem Lickfield and Gertrude Hemmingsway attended the meeting of the Household Remedies club in Janesville Wednesday. A good-sized crowd attended the dance in the hall Thursday night and all enjoyed it to the limit. It is rumored there will be a leap year party in the near future. While Emory Dunbar was going over a fence at the North-Western yards Thursday the top broke, jerking him fall about a distance of six feet. He struck on his head on some ice, but luckily escaped with only a severe headache. Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Sorenson spent Tuesday in Janesville. Miss Tem Lickfield called on friends in Evansville Tuesday. Frank W. Owen was a visitor here

Of Course They Said So.

"How did you happen to come to me for your dentistry?" said Dr. Richards to a patient recently.

"Why, you see, I'm a stranger here," said the patient, "and I inquired of several people as to what dentist to go to and they all said 'Dr. Richards' if I wanted 'Painless work'."

"Of course, I didn't want to be hurt and so I came to you," said the patient.

"Well, are you sorry you came?"

"Not a bit. You never hurt me in the least."

It's worth something to have such a reputation for Painless Dentistry. If you need dentistry and wish perfect satisfaction try Dr. Richards. He "delivers the goods."

FORMER RESIDENT OF CITY IS IN TROUBLE

Mrs. Ada Palmer, Who Once Made Janesville Her Home, Charged with Passing Worthless Checks.

Dispatches from New York announced the arrest in that city of Mrs. Ada Jean Palmer, a former resident of Janesville, on the charge of having passed worthless checks. Mrs. Palmer was born in Delavan or Lancaster and never lived in Janesville until the death of her father, Thomas McKee, when she came to this city shortly afterwards, marrying Charles Palmer, a son of the late Dr. Andrew Palmer, who conducted a drugstore on West Milwaukee street in the same block that the Grand Hotel was located. Mr. Palmer and his family lived further up the street in the house which centers in the block above Academy street. After a brief married life Mrs. Palmer secured a divorce from her husband and according to newspaper reports she then had a number for passing checks on banks in which she did not have sufficient funds to pay them. Some thirteen years ago she came in conflict with the Chicago police on a similar charge to the one that now confronts her in New York, but matters were satisfactorily adjusted at that time and she left for New York, where she has since made her home. Mrs. Palmer was for some time interested in a device known as Fairy Bread which was to revolutionize cake and bread-making, making it possible to keep the product for some time for use in the army and on exploring expeditions.

County Board Did Not Get Cheated in Deciding to Buy Road-Rollers for Work in Country.

Instead of heartily endorsing the action of the county board in deciding to purchase two rollers for building rural roads in a proper manner, some of the county board have started the story that the county board has been "stung." Just where the story had its foundation is unknown, but it was freely reported that the price of $2,750 which the agent for the Monarch road-roller placed on his roller and which many understood was $500 in excess of the price made the city for the same machine the county had agreed to buy. It was reported that a certain alderman was ready to go on the stand and swear that the same roller had been offered the city for $2,250, and that the county was "stung." A careful review of the whole tale brings out the following true status of affairs. The price of $2,750 was made to a certain alderman by the agent of the Monarch roller, but it included an exchange of city city roller at which a valuation of $500 had been placed. This brings this price up to $2,250, as offered to the county fathers. The report the county had bought the roller in question also proved to be erroneous, as no papers have yet been signed or contract let, although a majority of the members preferred the Monarch to other makes talked of. The Gazette congratulates the county board on its stand in purchasing two rollers and every citizen interested in the affair will be glad to learn that the reports that the county fathers had shown indiscretion is not true. Whether the Monarch or any other pattern of roller is purchased, is not essential so long as a good one is bought. The fact the county has taken the initial step proposing to buy two is sufficient to denote that progress in road-making is to be marked in Rock county in the coming year.

CHAPTER EIGHT

January the complex social mechanism of the metropolis was whirling smoothly again. The last ultra fashionable December luncheon had returned from the country. Those of the same class outward bound for a southern or exotic winter had departed, and the glittering machine, every part assembled, refurbished, repolished and connected, having been given preliminary speed tests at the horse show and a tuning up at the opera, was now running under full velocity, and its steady, subdued whir quickened the clattering pulse of the city, keying it to a sublimely synchronized rhythm.

It was an open winter in New York and financially a prosperous one, and that meant a brilliant social season. Three phenomena particularly characterized that metropolitan winter—the reckless rage for private gambling through the mediums of bridge and roulette; the incorporation of a company known as the Intercounty Electric company, capitalized at a figure calculated to deter nobody and so far without any avowed specific policy other than that which served to decorate a portion of its charter which otherwise might have remained entirely and comparatively blank; the third phenomenon was the retirement from active affairs of Stanley S. Quarrier, the father of Howard Quarrier, and the election of the son to the presidency of the great Algonquin Loan and Trust company, with its network system of dependent, subsidiary and allied corporations.

The day that the newspapers gave this interesting information to the western world Larry Mortimer, on being bluntly notified that he had overdrawn his account with the Algonquin Loan and Trust, began telephoning in every direction until he located Beverly Plank at the Saddle club, an organization of wealthy men and sufficiently exclusive not to compromise Plank's possible chances for something better. Mortimer crawled out of his lair, saying that the desk clerk would pay, and entered the reading room, where Plank sat writing a letter.

Beverly Plank had grown stouter since he had returned to town from Black Falls, but the increase of weight was evenly distributed over his six feet odd, which made him only a trifle more ponderous and not abnormally fat. But Mortimer had become enormous. Rolls of flesh crowded his mottled ear lobes outward and bulged above his collar. Cushions of it padded the backs of his hands and fingers. Slaving left his heavy, distended face congested and unpleasantly shiny. But he was as minutely groomed as ever, and he wore that satiated air of prosperity which had always been one of his most important assets. The social campaign inaugurated by Lolla Mortimer in behalf of Beverly Plank had so far received no serious reverses. His box at the horse show, of course, produced merely negative results. His box at the opera might mean something some day. His name was up at the Lenox and the Patrons. He had endowed a ward in the new pavilion of St. Bernard's hospital. He had presented a fine Galamborough, "The Countess of Wythe," to the Metropolitan museum, and it was rumored that he had consulted several bishops concerning a new chapel for that huge bastion of the citadel of faith looming above the metropolitan wilderness in the north.

Meanwhile he was doggedly docile. His huge house, facing the windy park midway between the squat palaces of the wealthy pioneers and the outer hundreds, remained magnificently empty save for certain afternoon conferences of very solemn men, fellow directors and associates in business, and

GO RIGHT AT IT.

Get at the root of the trouble. Rubbing an itching back may relieve it.

But it won't cure it. You must reach the root of it—the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills go right at it. Reach the cause; relieve the pain. They cure, too, so Janesville people say.

Mrs. R. M. Wilson, of 202 Mineral Point Ave., Janesville, Wis., says: "I had been suffering with my back for a number of years. I had constant pain in the loins and I felt so generally weak and run-down that I often felt that I could not keep up. I used liniments and other remedies, but did not help me, and finally, seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended in our papers, I sent to the Drug Co. procured a box and began using them. A few doses were sufficient to rid me of the pain and I continued using the remedy until entirely cured. My son found the same satisfaction in using them for bladder-trouble as he has been entirely free from it since using Doan's Kidney Pills."

financial matters—save for the periodical presence of the Mortimers. "Things are moving all the same," said Mortimer as he entered the reading room of the Saddle club. "Quarrier and Helwether have listened more respectfully to me since they read that column about you and the bishops and that chapel business."

Plank turned his heavy head, with a disturbed glance around the room. "Can't you be careful?" he said. "There was a man here a moment ago." He picked up his unfinished letter, folded and pocketed it, touched an electric bell, and when a servant came, "Take Mr. Mortimer's order," he said, supporting his massive head on his huge hands and resting his elbow on the writing desk.

"I've got to cut out this morning breack," said Mortimer, eyeing the servant with indecision, but he gave his order nevertheless and later accepted a cigar, and when the servant had returned and again refilled his half emptied tin glass, refilled it with mineral water, and, settling back in the padded armchair, said: "If I manage this thing as it ought to be managed you'll go through by April. What do you think of that?"

Plank's phlegmatic features flushed. "I'm more obliged to you than I can say," he began, but Mortimer silenced him with a gesture. "Don't interrupt. I'm going to put you through the Patrons club by April. That's thirty yards through the center. D'you see, you dunder-headed Dutchman? It's solid gold, and it's our ball. The Lenox will take longer. They're a 'holter-than-thout' bunch of nincompoops, and it always horrifies them to have any man—P'm more obliged to elected, no wait—you than I can say—ter who he is."

Plank looked out of the window, his shrewd blue eyes closing in retrospection. "Another thing," continued Mortimer thickly, "the Kemp Ferralls are disposed to be decent. I don't mean in asking you to meet some intellectual second raters, but in doing it handsomely."

"I want to say," began Plank, speaking the more slowly because he was deeply in earnest, "that all this you are doing for me is very handsome of you, Mortimer. I'd like to say, to convey to you something of how I feel about the way you and Mrs. Mortimer—"

"Oh, Lolla has done it all," said Mortimer, frowning and growling over his cigar, was nevertheless stealthily intent on the game which had so long absorbed him. His wife, clogged, dilled by excesses, were now aroused to a sort of gross activity through the menace of necessity. At last Plank had given him an opening. He recognized his chance.

"There's one thing," he said dolborately, "that I won't stand for, and that's any vulgar misconception on your part of my friendship for you. Do you follow me?"

"I don't understand it," protested Plank, angry and astonished. "I don't."

"As though," continued Mortimer menacingly, "I were one of those needy social tipsters, one of those shabby, pandering touts who—"

"For heaven's sake, Mortimer, don't talk like that! I had no intention!"

"One of those contemptible, parasite leeches," persisted Mortimer, getting redder and hotter, "who live on men like you. Confound you, Plank, what the devil do you mean by it?"

"Mortimer, are you crazy to talk to me like that?"

"No, I'm not, but you must be! I've a mind to drop the whole cursed business! I've every inclination to drop it! If you haven't horse sense enough—if you haven't innate delicacy sufficient to keep you from making such a break—"

"I didn't. It wasn't a break, Mortimer. I wouldn't have hurt you!"

"You did hurt me! How can I feel the same again? I never imagined you thought I was that sort of a social money-maker. Why, so little did I dream that you looked on our friendship in that light that I was—on my word of honor—I was just now on the point of asking you for $3,000 or $4,000 to carry me to the month's end and square my bridge balance."

"Mortimer, you must take it! You are a fool to think I meant anything by saying I wanted to show my gratitude. Look here; be decent and fair with me. I wouldn't offer you an affront—would I—even if I were a cad? I wouldn't do it now just when you're getting things into shape for me. I'm not a fool myself. This is a deadly earnest, I tell you, Mortimer, and I'm getting angry about it. You've got to show your confidence in me. You've got to take what you want from me as you would from any friend."

There was a pause. A curious and unaccustomed sensation had slithered Mortimer, something almost akin to shame. It astonished him a little. He did not quite understand why in the very moment of success over this stolid, shrewd young man and his thrifty Dutch instincts he should feel uncomfortable. Were not his services worth something? Had he not earned at least the right to borrow from this rich man who could afford to pay for what was done for him? Why should he feel ashamed? He had not been treacherous; he really liked the fellow. Why shouldn't he take his money?

"See here, old man," said Plank, extending a huge highly colored hand, "is all square between us now?"

"I think so," muttered Mortimer. But Plank would not relinquish his hand.

"Then! Tell me how to draw that check! Great heaven, Mortimer, what is friendship, anyhow, if it doesn't include little matters like this—little misunderstandings like this? I'm the man to be sensitive, not you. You have been very good to me, Mortimer. I could almost wish you in a position where the only thing I possess might square something of my debt to you."

A few minutes later while he was filling in the check a dusty youth in riding clothes and spurs came in and found a seat by one of the windows, into which he dropped, and then looked about him for a servant.

"Hello, Fleetwood!" said Mortimer, glancing over his shoulder to see whose spurs were ringing on the polished floor.

Fleetwood saluted amiably with his riding crop, including Plank, whom he did not know, in a more formal salute.

"Will you join us?" asked Mortimer, taking the check which Plank offered and carelessly pocketing it without even a nod of thanks. "You know Beverly Plank, of course? What! I thought everybody knew Beverly Plank!"

Mr. Fleetwood and Mr. Plank shook hands and resumed their seats. "Ripping weather," observed Fleetwood, replacing his hat and rebuttoning the glove which he had removed to shake hands with Plank. "Lot of jolly people out this morning. I say, Mortimer, do you want that roan hunter or mine you looked over? I mean, King Donald, because Marlon Page wants him if you don't. She was out this morning, and she spoke of it again."

Mortimer, lifting a replenished glass, shook his head and drank thirstily in silence.

"Saw you at Westbury, I think," said Fleetwood politely to Plank as the two lifted their glasses to one another.

"I hunted there for a day or two," replied Plank modestly. "If it's that big Irish thoroughbred you were riding that you want to sell, I'd like a look in it Miss Page doesn't fancy him."

Fleetwood laughed and glanced amusedly at Plank over his glass. "It isn't that horse, Mr. Plank. That's Drummelt, Stephen Stewart's famous horse." He interrupted himself to exchange greetings with several men who came into the room rather noisily, their spurs resounding across the oak floor. One of them, Tom O'Hara, joined them, slamming his crop on the desk beside Plank and spreading himself over an armchair, from the seat of which he forcibly removed Mortimer's feet without excuse.

"Drink? Of course I want a drink," he replied irritably to Fleetwood—"one, three, ten, several, Billy, whose womanly belled photo was that you were kicking your heels into in the park? Some of the squadron men asked me—the major. Oh, boy, pardon! Didn't know you were trying to kick Mortimer with him. He might do for the troop ambulance—hello. What? Oh, yes, not Mr. Plank—I mean Mr. Plank—not Shotover, I think. How d'ye do? Had the pleasure of putting your tame pheasants. Holten sport, you know. What do you do for, Mr. Plank?"

"What did you come for if it's rotten sport?" asked Plank so simply that it took O'Hara a moment to realize he had been snubbed.

"I didn't mean to be offensive," he drawled.

"I suppose you can't help it," said Plank very gently. "Some people can't, you know." And there was another silence, broken by Mortimer, whose eye the bulk was tingling with a mixture of surprise and amusement over his protégé's developing ability to take care of himself. "Did you say that Stephen Stewart is in Westbury, Billy?"

"No; he's in town," replied Fleetwood. "I took his horses up to hunt with. He isn't hunting, you know."

"I didn't know. Nobody ever sees him anywhere," said Mortimer. "I guess his mother's death cut him up."

Commissioner Smith vs. The Standard Oil Co.

From the Railway World, January 3, 1908.

Mr. Herbert Knox Smith, whose zeal in the cause of economic reform has been in no wise abated by the panic which he and his kind did so much to bring on, is out with an answer to President Moffett, of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. The publication of this answer, it is officially given out, was delayed several weeks, "for business reasons," because it was not deemed advisable to further excite the public mind, which was profoundly disturbed by the crisis. Now that the storm clouds have rolled by, however, the Commissioner rushes again into the fray.

Our readers remember that the chief points in the defence of the Standard Oil Company, as presented by President Moffett, were, (1) that the rate of six cents on oil from Whiting to East St. Louis had been issued to the Standard Oil Company as the lawful rate by employees of the Alton, (2) that the 18-cent rate on file with the Interstate Commerce Commission was a class and not a commodity rate, never being intended to apply to oil, (3) that oil was shipped in large quantities between Whiting and East St. Louis over the Chicago and Eastern Illinois at six and one-fourth cents per hundred pounds, which has been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission as the lawful rate, and (4) that the 18-cent rate on oil was entirely out of proportion to lawful rates on other commodities between these points of a similar character, and of greater value, such, for example, as linseed oil, the lawful rate on which was eight cents. President Moffett also stated that thousands of tons of freight had been sent by other shippers between these points under substantially the same conditions as governed the shipments of the Standard Oil Company.

This defence of the Standard Oil Company was widely quoted and has undoubtedly exerted a powerful influence upon the public mind. Naturally the Administration, which has staked the success of its campaign against the "trusts" upon the result of its attack upon this company, endeavors to offset this influence, and hence the new deliverance of Commissioner Smith.

We need hardly to point out that his rebuttal argument is extremely weak, although as strong, no doubt, as the circumstances would warrant. He answers the points made by President Moffett substantially as follows: (1) The Standard Oil Company had a traffic department, and should have known that the six-cent rate had not been filed, (2) no answer, (3) the Chicago and Eastern Illinois rate was a secret rate because it read, not from Whiting, but from Dolton, which is described as "a village of about 1,500 population just outside of Chicago." Its only claim to note is that it has been for many years the point of origin for this and similar secret rates. The Commissioner admits in describing this rate that there was a note attached stating that the rate could also be used from Whiting.

The press has quite generally hailed this statement of the Commissioner of Corporations as a conclusive refutation of what is evidently recognized as the strongest rebuttal argument advanced by the Standard.

In fact, it is as weak and inconclusive as the remainder of his argument. The lines of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois do not run into Chicago. They terminate at Dolton, from which point entrance is made over the Belt Line, Whiting, where the oil freight originates, is not on the lines of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, which receives its Whiting freight from the Belt Line at Dolton. The former practice, now discontinued, in filing tariffs was to make them read from a point on the line of the filing road, and it was also general to state on the same sheet, that the tariff would apply to other points, e. g., Whiting. The Chicago and Eastern Illinois followed this practice in filing its rate from Dolton, and making a note on the sheet that it applied to Whiting. This was in 1895 when this method of filing tariffs was in common use.

Now let us see in what way the intending shipper of oil could be misled and deceived by the fact that the Chicago and Eastern Illinois had not filed a rate reading from Whiting. Commissioner Smith contends that "concealment is the only motive for such a circuitous arrangement," i. e., that this method of filing the rate was intended to mislead intending competitors of the Standard Oil Company. Suppose such a prospective oil refiner had applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for the rate from Chicago to East St. Louis over the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, he would have been informed that the only rate filed with the commission by this company was 6 1/4 cents from Dolton, and he would have been further informed, if indeed he did not know this already, that this rate applied throughout Chicago territory. So that whether he wished to locate his plant at Whiting, or anywhere else about Chicago, under an arrangement of long standing, and which applies to all the industrial towns in the neighborhood of Chicago, he could have his freight delivered over the Belt Line to the Chicago and Eastern Illinois at Dolton and transported to East St. Louis at a rate of 6 1/4 cents. Where then is the concealment which the Commissioner of Corporations makes so much of? Any rate—from Dolton on the Eastern Illinois or Chippewa on the Alton, or Harvey on the Illinois Central, or Blue Island on the Rock Island, applies throughout Chicago territory to shipments from Whiting, as to shipments from any other point in the district. So far from the Eastern Illinois filing its rate from Dolton in order to deceive the shipper, it is the Commissioner of Corporations who either betrays his gross ignorance of transportation customs in Chicago territory or relies on the public ignorance of these customs to deceive the public too apt to accept unquestioningly every statement made by a Government official as necessarily true, although, as in the present instance, a careful examination shows these statements to be false.

The final point made by President Moffett that other commodities of a character similar to oil were carried at much lower rates than 18 cents, the Commissioner of Corporations discusses only with the remark that "the reasonableness" of this rate is not in question. The question is whether this rate constituted a discrimination as against other shippers of oil, and he also makes much of the failure of President Moffett to produce before the grand jury evidence of the alleged illegal acts of which the Standard Oil official said that other large shippers in the territory had been guilty. Considering the fact that these shippers included the packers and elevator men of Chicago the action of the grand jury in calling upon President Moffett to furnish evidence of their wrong-doing may be interpreted as a demand for an elaboration of the obvious; but the fact that a rate-book containing these freight rates for other shippers was offered in evidence during the trial and ruled out by Judge Landis was kept out of sight. President Moffett would not, of course, accept the invitation of the grand jury although he might have been pardoned if he had referred them to various official investigations by the Interstate Commerce Commission and other departments of the Government.

We come back, therefore, to the conclusion of the whole matter, which is that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana was fined an amount equal to seven or eight times the value of its entire property, because its traffic department did not verify the statement of the Alton rate clerk, that the six-cent commodity rate on oil had been properly filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission. There is no evidence, and none was introduced at the trial, that any shipper of oil from Chicago territory had been interfered with by the eighteen-cent rate nor that the failure of the Alton to file its six-cent rate had resulted in any discrimination against any independent shipper—we must take this on the word of the Commissioner of Corporations and of Judge Landis. Neither is it denied even by Mr. Smith that the "independent" shipper of oil, whom he pictures as being driven out of business by this discrimination of the Alton, could have shipped all the oil he desired to ship from Whiting via Dolton over the lines of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois to East St. Louis. In short, President Moffett's defence is still good, and we predict will be so declared by the higher court.

The Standard Oil Company has been charged with all manner of crimes and misdemeanors. Beginning with the famous Rice of Marietta, passing down to that apostle of popular liberties, Henry Demarest Lloyd, with his Wealth Against the Commonwealth, descending by easy stages to Miss Tarbell's offensive personalities, we finally reach the nether depths of unfair and baseless misrepresentation in the report of the Commissioner of Corporations. The Standard has been charged with every form of commercial piracy and with most of the crimes on the corporation calendar. After long years of strenuous attack, under the leadership of the President of the United States, the corporation is at last dragged to the bar of justice to answer for its misdoings. The whole strength of the Government is directed against it, and at last, we are told, the Standard Oil Company is to pay the penalty of its crimes, and it is finally convicted of having failed to verify the statement of a rate clerk and is forthwith fined a prodigious sum, measured by the car. Under the old criminal law, the theft of property worth more than a shilling was punishable by death. Under the interpretation of the Interstate Commerce law by Theodore Roosevelt and Judge Kenesaw Landis, a technical error of a traffic official is made the excuse for the confiscation of a vast amount of property.

NEW LAWMAKERS ARE GIVEN CHANCE

MANY TAKE PART IN DEBATE ON IMMIGRATION QUESTION.

WHOLE SUBJECT OPENED

Violent Opposition Developed to Admission of Certain Classes of Aliens—Secretary Cortel-you Explains Delay.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Unrestrained opportunity to express views on the immigration question was afforded members of the house Monday by the decision, soon after coming, to take up and consider a bill appropriating $250,000 for an immigration station in Philadelphia, and so many took advantage of it that the code of laws bill which the managers of the house had planned to take up was sidetracked for the day.

The discussion of the immigration station bill opened up the whole subject of immigration and excited the interest of the entire house. Members from both sides of the chamber clamored for recognition, which carried with it the right to speak for an hour, as desired.

Chance of First Term Members.
The discussion served to develop violent opposition, led by Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Byrd, to certain classes of immigrants coming to the United States, while others made earnest pleas for them upon the ground that the prosperity of the country had been advanced because of their presence in this country.

The debate was notable in that it was indulged in largely by members serving their first terms and who found in the bill a chance to make their maiden efforts at speechmaking on the floor of the house. The entire session was devoted to a consideration of the bill, which was passed, and at 4:53 p. m. the house adjourned.

Cortelyou Explains Delay.

Just before the senate adjourned Monday Senator Aldrich received a letter from Secretary Cortelyou explaining the delay in replying to the resolution calling on him for information concerning the recent Panama canal bond issue, and the letter was laid before the senate. Earlier in the day Senator Tillman indulged in caustic comment upon what he characterized as the secretary's apparent "disobedience" to a senate resolution.

In his letter to Senator Aldrich Mr. Cortelyou said:
"I am sorry that there should have been any misunderstanding as to the time when my answer to the senate resolution regarding the treasury operations would be sent in. Had I been advised of your request to know when it might be expected, I would have replied that I required a little more time to go over the mass of figures involved. It is my desire, of course, that all business of this kind shall be disposed of promptly, but this matter is so important that I have felt it desirable that every feature of the report should be clearly stated, both for the information of the senate and in justice to the department. It is my desire and intention to submit a complete response to the resolution and to have it ready in the course of the next few days—in all probability about the beginning of next week."

MAY REVEAL HAYTI SECRET

ARREST OF JOSEPH GIORDAIN IN NEW YORK IMPORTANT.

Arrangements Were Being Made to Resurrect Paper Money Printed for Former Revolution.

New York, Jan. 21.—Inside lights on the financing of the Haytian revolution now in progress will likely be unfolded as a result of the arrest of Joseph Giordain, who was taken into custody Monday by United States secret service men and arraigned before Commissioner Shields, charged with the counterfeiting of the paper currency of the Haytian government.

The arrest was effected under the personal direction of Chief Wilkie, of the secret service. It was said there was more behind the arrest than the allegation of counterfeiting. Giordain pleaded not guilty and was held under $7,000 bail for examination on February 28.

Giordain is charged with counterfeiting 10,000 one and two-dollar bills of the Haytian government. Through his counsel he asserts that he made no attempt to counterfeit the currency of the present Haytian government, but made the Haytian paper money several years ago under an authorization of the government constituted under the revolution of Gen. Fermin. According to the complaint, Giordain had engraved by a local bank note company $1,500,000 bills of the proposed Haytian government. One-half of this money was sent to Hayti to pay off the troops of Gen. Fermin. The revolution collapsed and the revolutionary currency was burned on its arrival. Giordain, it is charged, stored the remainder of the bills in a local warehouse.

The recent Haytian revolution, it is asserted by the detective, has brought into existence again the old proposed Haytian government, which was behind the currency that Giordain had engraved, and arrangements were making to forward the bills to Hayti to pay off the insurgent troops. Counsel for Giordain state that no attempt has been made to counterfeit the bills of the existing government.

CANADA ALONE TO BLAME

REPORT OF ROYAL COMMISSION-ER ON JAPANESE INFLUX.

If Restrictive Regulations Were Not Observed, It Was at Request of Dominion Interests.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 21.—The report of W. L. Mackenzie King, the royal commissioner appointed to inquire into the influx of Oriental labor into Canada, was presented to parliament Monday afternoon. After a searching inquiry into the vexed problems of Japanese immigration the commissioner throws a new light on the responsibility for the sudden increase of Japanese landing in British Columbia during last summer.

The report of Mr. King establishes that the Japanese government had been observing the agreement to restrict immigration and that the departure of the Japanese foreign office in April last from the regulations hitherto in force was made only at the instance of the Canadian Nippon Sully company, backed by the Canadian Pacific railway and other influential Canadian interests, which represented at Tokyo that Japanese labor was needed and desired in this country.

"If there was a change," says Mr. King, "in the policy of Japan, it was not one which could adversely affect the interests of this country without a Canadian citizen or a Canadian corporation first placing upon it the seal of his or its approval."

In other words, Mr. King finds no malice propense on the part of the Japanese government or any desire to alter its policy of restricting immigration, as shown during the proceeding six years, and the cause of the influx that has agitated British Columbia is traceable to Canadian sources.

In his analysis of the extent of Japanese immigration of the first ten months of last year Mr. King finds that out of a total of 8,125 only 4,429 remained in Canada. Of this total 2,779 came from the Hawaiian Islands and only 1,641 from Japan direct. Of this latter number 900 were under contract for the Canadian Pacific railway and 600 were students and merchants.

BOMB FOR MINE CAPTAIN.

Attempt on Life of Thomas Nicholas in Minnesota.

Hibbald, Minn., Jan. 21.—A dynamite bomb was thrown against the house of Thomas Nicholas, captain of the Mohawk iron mine, near Aurora, early Monday morning. The explosion tore one side of the house into splinters and threw Nicholas, his wife and four children from their beds. A baby sleeping with its parents was badly injured.

No definite clue to the perpetrators of the outrage has been found. Alarmed by the attempt on the life of Capt. Nicholas, mining superintendents and captains throughout the range have arranged to have their homes guarded.

THE FRENCH AMBASSADOR, JUS. ERAND.

The marked change in one day in the attitude of the French press toward the American-Japanese relations is now known to have been caused by Ambassador Jusserand permitting it to be known that such comments were creating false impressions in the United States and were disagreeable to him personally. This shows the universal esteem in which the French ambassador in Washington is held by his own countrymen. By divers channels known to diplomacy the ambassador's protest reached the office of the various editors on the morning after it had been received in the Quai d'Orsay, and every paper in Paris forthwith published articles in regard to the Franco-American relations, in which it was incidentally declared that a conflict between the United States and Japan was most unlikely.

NEW SLEEVES AS DOG KENNELS.

The latest social fad in the big centers of the country is the sleeve dog kennel. Shivering small dogs, too delicate and too finely bred to face the cold of winter and too precious to be left at home when their mistresses go out, are being carried up in a woman's sleeve or coily nestled in her muff, as shown in this illustration.

The barber of old was a hero hold. A dignified with disheveled air, as though local hero to John D. The surgeons and barbers then got in a scrap, and the surgeons won out, as we see. So now, I'll vow, it would cause a great row if the barber should try to bleed me.

The barber pole, gay, was made in this way. The red for the blood that he drew; the white in that day marked a surgeon, they say, and his honor was shown by the blue.

BODIES OF MURDERED FOUND.

Italian at Florence, Col., Makes Partial Confession to Police.

Florence, Col., Jan. 21.—The dead bodies of three of the four Italians whose disappearance from this city in the last three months has baffled the police, were found Monday buried at a distance of about 150 yards from the home of Antonio Nernino, alias Antonio Bavar, who is under arrest, charged with the murder of four persons.

The corpses are those of Dominio Minichello, who was a partner of Nernino in a market gardening business; Ercola Buffetti, an employee at the garden, and Mrs. Frank Palmetto, who had been Nernino's housekeeper. Nernino disclosed the hiding place of the bodies when threatened with immediate hanging if he did not tell all that he knew about the murders. However, he declared that the murders were committed by Joseph Minichello, the missing man, and not by himself.

Ohio Dispute Taken to Courts.

Sandusky, O., Jan. 21.—On the ground that the primary as provided for in the call of the Republican state central committee, necessitates a misapplication of public funds, an injunction suit was filed here Monday by Alexander Nelson against the Erie county board of elections. Nelson prays that the board be enjoined from proceeding further with the primary election to select delegates to the Republican state convention, which will select Ohio delegates to the Republican national convention.

Don't Bake Beans

With all your trouble you can't get anything half so good as Van Camp's

It isn't your fault, but you lack the facilities.
It requires a fierce heat to break down the fibre of beans, and you cannot apply it.
That is why home-cooked beans are hard to digest.
That is why you regard them as heavy food.
Beans, above all foods, need to be factory cooked.

Our ovens are heated to 245 degrees
That's why our beans are digestible

And we bake in live steam, so all are baked well without browning or breaking. That's why they are meaty, yet nutty.
They are baked in the cans—the beans, the tomato sauce and the pork all together. Thus their delicious blend.
You can't do as we do, because you lack the facilities.
Why bother to try it? Let us cook for you.

Van Camp's pork and beans baked with tomato sauce

We use Michigan beans, picked over by hand from the choicest part of the crop.
Only the whitest, the plumpest, the fullest-grown.
Our tomatoes are not picked green and ripened in ship ment, but ripened in full on the vines.
That gives to our sauce its superlative zest.

We could buy beans for one-seventh, and sauce for one-fifth what we pay

We pay $2.10 per bushel for our beans, though beans are sold as low as thirty cents.

We could buy tomato sauce, ready made, for exactly one-fifth what we spend to make it.

No wonder if some brands sell cheaper than ours. But you will never accept them after you once try Van Camp's.
10, 15 and 20¢ per can.

FARMERS AND DAIRYMEN

You are thinking what is best to do with your milk this coming year to get the largest returns. The hand separator is the solution to this problem. It is needless to tell you that hand separators are coming to the front and are getting to be one of the most necessary tools on the farm. If you haven't one ask your neighbor about his.

We have patrons whose cows have paid them over sixty dollars each this past year. These herds are not blooded or fancy stock. We are not at liberty to use the names of these patrons but if you wish to investigate this matter write to us.
We would like to say to you that even though feed is high, it pays to feed your cows if they are fed properly. Cows are in a way machines. It takes about so much feed to keep them in a good thriving condition and a little more gives added results in the flow of milk.

We want your cream. We do not make any extra offers,
